

CryptoSwan

service aimed at recording forecasts of the cryptocurrency rates

Commercial offer to sponsors

CryptoSwan.org is a young international IT startup in the field of blockchain and cryptocurrency.

The service aimed at recording forecasts of the cryptocurrency rates was launched on January 21, 2019.

100 robots-analysts, called “swans”, make 3500 forecasts for 3 days in advance at random every day, and users can record their forecasts for any date. If the user is a successful analyst, this service can become a public confirmation of his skills.

The statistic of “swans” and all forecasters publicly available. We will see the overall picture after accumulating information for several years. Are the analysts so good or the “swans”, that can make a decision for split-second will outpace them?
